

Divine Love Resource Guide

This Resource Guide includes known Divine Love and related websites, blogs, video ministries, Facebook groups and pages, and forums. It also lists authors of books relating to the Divine Love path, as well as services utilizing and/or promoting Divine Love information. Since the last update, translations of the messages into French and German have also been added.

The reference was originally compiled by Rev. Eva Peck, member and minister of FCDT, in October 2014 with several updates made since that time. The list was initially created by checking the links on the FCDT website, then checking the links on those websites, and so on. Each site listed was checked at least fleetingly and should be working. The order of entries is somewhat arbitrary, except that sites created by the same individuals are kept together if in the same category. While merit has been seen by the author in the inclusions on this listing, total accuracy or truthfulness of any of them cannot be vouched for. Therefore each individual needs to discern for themselves what resonates with them and what doesn't.

Since the initial compilation, the list has grown considerably as new Divine Love ministries have been started. This is especially true in the area of YouTubes, Facebook groups, and published books. From its first version of three pages, the Guide is now more than triple that. It is possible that errors have crept in or sites that should be included are not. Also, some links may have become dead or non-functional since initially included. If so, please contact Eva through her website <http://universal-spirituality.net/contact-2> or the Divine Love Sanctuary Forum to request corrections or additions.

If you have a list of links on your blog or website, you may like to consider expanding it by including some of the links here, or even the whole list. This way, the Divine Love message may reach yet more people, which is what we all desire.

Trusting that this Resource Guide will be helpful to those on the Divine Love path and those who are yet to find it. With our individualities and different personalities, each site, blog, Facebook page, YouTube ministry, book or service presents a unique perspective and what doesn't suit one person may suit another.
